FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Best Practice Focused Non-Partisan Research Institute, Florida Policy Project, is Launched by Senator Jeff Brandes, Businessman and Former Legislator

TAMPA, Fla. (April 3, 2023) – Former Senator, entrepreneur, and businessman Jeff Brandes is launching the Florida Policy Project (FPP), a non-partisan research institute. The Florida Policy Project is a not-for-profit organization committed to advancing evidence-based policies and best practices to improve the lives of Floridians. The organization will collaborate with state and nationally recognized research experts to conduct, compile, and complete analysis on best practices that produce the best outcomes for Floridians. Pillars of focus include criminal justice reform, property insurance, transportation, and housing.

Senator Brandes, who served in the Florida Legislature from 2010 to 2022, actively advocated for innovative and independent policymaking to address the emerging challenges our state faces.

“Mr. Brandes built his reputation as a visionary community leader by advocating for forward-thinking criminal justice, housing affordability, transportation, and property insurance reforms in the Florida Legislature,” said Bill Galvano, former President of the Florida Senate and Board Chair for Florida Policy Project.

The Florida Policy Project will become the destination for data-driven research resulting from networking with relevant subject matter experts and industry leaders. FPP will capture established public policy, best practices, and leverage leading-edge technological capabilities to educate and engage elected officials.

“Having served in the Florida legislature for the past 12 years, I know firsthand the need for intelligent data-driven research that will educate both the general public and our elected officials as we seek to improve policy outcomes and implement best practices,” said former Senator Jeff Brandes and Florida Policy Project Founder. “As Florida continues its unprecedented growth, FPP strives to offer resources that will help our elected officials make informed and strategic decisions in policymaking, ensuring the prosperity of the current and future residents of Florida.”

About Florida Policy Project

The Florida Policy Project (FPP) is a non-partisan research institute with an overarching mission to positively influence the quality of life for Florida residents and guests. FPP provides education and data-driven research for elected officials and the public in the State of Florida with a focus on housing affordability, criminal justice, insurance, and transportation, delivering public policy's best practices, and leveraging cutting-edge technologies.

FPP is a destination for data-driven research resulting from networking with relevant subject matter experts and industry leaders, capturing established public policy best practices, and leveraging leading-edge technological capabilities.
